

Vacancy Announcement

Terrorism Research Center Seeks Fusion Analysts for Global Fusion Center in Arlington, Virginia

The Terrorism Research Center in Arlington, Virginia, is seeking skilled all-source Fusion Analysts to work in its Global Fusion Center (GFC).

Fusion Analysts will be responsible for researching, analyzing and delivering a wide variety of intelligence materials to U.S. Government and corporate clients, and also to TRC and associated executives.

Position Title and Duty Location

Fusion Analyst; TRC Global Fusion Center, Arlington, Virginia (Two Vacancies).

Duties

1. Serves as watch and analytic Fusion Analyst.
2. Independently monitors, identifies, assesses, tracks, analyzes, and alerts customers and TRC leadership to emerging and existing:
 - Terrorist and Insurgent Developments and Threats
 - Civil Unrest
 - Political and Economic Instability
 - Environmental Hazards
 - War and Other Armed Conflict
3. Synthesizes and analyzes all available data to form analytic conclusions tailored to customer requirements.
4. Directly interfaces with TRC staff, and U.S.-based and foreign clients.
5. Independently writes/distributes all-source world-class analysis on short notice.
6. Independently produces, disseminates, maintains and archives Priority Alerts and Situation Reports (SITREPs) for clients worldwide.
7. Independently produces, disseminates, maintains and archives watch logs.
8. Inputs analysis into the TRC database.
9. Other analytic duties as assigned.

Contact 703.953.7650 to learn more about TRC and this job opening

Vacancy Announcement

Work Schedule

The Fusion Analyst position is an overnight assignment.

As TRC expands its GFC staffing through March 2007, the revised work schedule will allow Fusion Analysts to rotate shifts, and mix day and evening duty assignments.

Compensation

Compensation will be commensurate with experience and education.

TRC recognizes this duty assignment operates during unconventional hours; remuneration will be adjusted accordingly.

TRC also offers employees a full line of medical, dental, vision, term life insurance and retirement options delivered by industry-leading providers. Staffing levels will allow for personal and sick leave as appropriate, and as articulated by the TRC Employee Handbook.

Additional Details

TRC will entrust the selected candidate with a significant amount of responsibility and autonomy.

This is a superb opportunity to enter into a career with a rapidly growing world-class intelligence and training organization.

A successful applicant will possess:

- An undergraduate degree or three years' direct experience.
- Experience working/analyzing political violence, asymmetric warfare, geopolitical risk assessment, consequence management, and/or crisis response.
- A high level of maturity and judgment.

Military, intelligence, foreign affairs and/or security-related experience, and familiarity with watch center or 24 hour operations, are beneficial but not required.

Contact 703.953.7650 to learn more about TRC and this job opening

Vacancy Announcement

About TRC

The Terrorism Research Center, Inc., founded in 1996, is a private intelligence organization that delivers solutions to industry, the U.S. Government, and other organizations.

TRC produces and delivers world-class intelligence and analysis regarding geopolitical risk, political violence, civil unrest, environmental threats, and information operations. TRC clients rely daily on our capabilities and products to support decision making in both deliberate and dynamic environments.

Our core services include current analyses; strategic judgments; 24/7 real-time tracking, tipping and warning services from our Global Fusion Center; tailored threat assessments; specialized mission planning; and an array of knowledge tools to ensure clients have the intelligence they need to make decisions, manage risk, and be successful in a complex and unstable world.

TRC also maintains an international network of contacts drawn from government, military and security forces, law enforcement, industry, and academia in the United States, Afghanistan, Brazil, Germany, Iraq, Panama, Singapore, the United Kingdom and elsewhere. This network enriches our intelligence activities, and provides flexibility and relevancy when breaking events occur.

Predictive, Timely, Tailored.

Contact 703.953.7650 to learn more about TRC and this job opening